

WHAT WE'VE BEEN UP TO.....

WHEN: 13th October 2012

WHERE: Glen Coe Weekend

COACHES: The staff at The Ice Factor

On the Saturday of our weekend trip to Glen Coe we enjoyed a range of independent activities, with some hill-walking with their families and others climbing at the Ice Factor. We all met up for an evening meal at the Clachaig and marshmallows round the fire for those camping nearby. Sunday was taken up with activities at the Ice Factor with everybody who could fit in at least a size 4 boot getting a shot at Ice Climbing.

Enjoying marshmallows round the campfire (above). Euan on the ice wall (left) and Kirsten on the high ropes course (below)

When not shivering in the big fridge we all got the chance to go round the high ropes course. Some of us were pretty quick and went round quite a few times.

Our first weekend meet was great fun. It was hard to know what made the greatest impression- the ice climbing, the size of the burgers in the pub or sitting round the campfire!

Find out more at www.quickdrawclimbingclub.org.uk or contact us at membership@quickdrawclimbingclub.org.uk